

Dear Sir Q 146
Philadelphia April 22nd 1782

I applied to the Secretary for your commission he told me he had sent you some abt. the beginning of March, perhaps in answer to your letter; but to remove all doubts, I told him to put up a few more, which are herewith sent.

You have been informed of ^{my} desire to leave Philadelphia abt. the beginning of May. I was in hopes my intended successor would have been sent on, but your letters, and Col Langdon's, shew me no probability of that, until my return. The affair of Vermont is put by for the present, and their agents are gone home. The ~~report~~ report concerning our quota of the 8 mil^l dollars is committed to another committee. I hope it will be well considered & set right. If that was got over, I should venture to resign my seat in congress: as there is great necessity of my paying a little attention to my own business. I shall find it necessary to make a small draft on you to carry me home.

I suppose as the state has been ^{repeatedly} notified, through you, of my desire & intention to return at the first of May, there will be no umbrage taken at my resignation. I would be glad to avoid every thing of that kind, which made me so particular with you, and Col. Langdon, upon the subject.

'Tis probable you will receive my resignation by next post; and yet I don't know that this is necessary: I don't know the custom in such cases. I wish at all events the delegates to come on as soon as possible.

I have the honour to be
Your most obed. humble servant.
